Property Description

Ocean Views, Security, and Enduring Value in Playa Avellanas. Pochote Hills is a newly developed, gated community of just 41 homesites, located less than half a mile from the sands of Playa Avellanas. The project is defined by tropical modern design principles and built with first-class infrastructure, including concrete roads, underground utilities, and 24/7 guarded access. A formal homeowners association with clear bylaws ensures architectural cohesion, protected view corridors, and a long-term vision for the community. Residents will enjoy a secure environment, an ocean-view clubhouse, and a setting that prioritizes privacy, nature, and lasting quality. Anchored by a majestic 150-year-old pochote tree at its entrance, the community reflects a deliberate respect for scale and landscape. Homesites throughout Pochote Hills capture ocean, mountain, and valley views, creating a sense of elevation and openness that is increasingly rare so close to the coastline.
